

Highlights

- Novel adaptive β -FROH control for milling force regulation.
- Multi-estimation schemes for robust controller selection.
- Accurate peak force tracking under varying cutting conditions.
- Reduced transient peaks and inter-sample oscillations.
- Improved machining stability and surface quality.