CIDT (Community Informant Detection Tool) CONTENT EVALUATION QUESTIONNAIRE

Instruction:

You are asked to assess whether the narrative and illustrations of the symptoms are accurate to the condition of people with mental disorders. Please tick the appropriate box. There are five scoring options: very inaccurate, inaccurate, unsure, accurate, and very accurate.

PSYCHOSIS

Yanti is a 21-year-old girl who lives with her parents in a village. She usually helps her mother sell goods at the local market, takes care of the household chores, and actively participates in youth pengajian (religious recitation) at the mosque. However, since about two to three months after Lebaran (the Eid-Fitr celebration), Yanti's attitude has changed. She has become more withdrawn, rarely speaks, and refuses to help with household chores. She is also reluctant to bathe and taking care of herself.

Over the past two weeks, her condition has worsened. Yanti sometimes speaks incoherently and difficult to understand. She also often hears voices calling her name or whispering something, even though there is no one around her. Some neighbors say her behavior resembles that someone who kesurupan (possessed) because, she has been known to scream for no apparent reason and is often suspicious that someone is trying to harm her, causing her to push away anyone who tries to approach her.

Mrs. Tejo is 50 years old. She lives with her husband and three teenage children. She is usually active in dasawisma (community women’s gatherings) and pengajian (religious study group) at the mosque. In recent months, Mrs. Tejo has frequently visited Puskesmas (primary health center). She complains of chest pain, shortness of breath, heart palpitations, and weakness. However, after being examined, the doctor informed her that she does not have heart or lung disease.

One day, Mrs. Tejo suddenly experienced intense panic. Her heart was beating very fast, her body was shaking, she was sweating profusely, her breathing felt heavy, and she felt as if she were being crushed, even feeling as if she were about to faint or die. This episode lasted only a few minutes, but it terrified her.

Since then, Mrs. Tejo rarely leaves the house. She no longer participates social activities because she is afraid that the incident will happen again. When she is in a crowded place, she becomes anxious and wants to go home immediately.
