

Evidence for association of Vibrio echinoideorum with tissue necrosis on body shell of the green sea urchin Strongylocentrotus droebachiensis

Jonathan Hira¹ and Klara Stensvåg^{1*}

¹The Norwegian College of Fishery Science, The Faculty of Biosciences, Fisheries and Economics, UiT The Arctic University of Norway, Tromsø, Norway.

* Correspondence: klara.stensvag@uit.no

Supplementary figures

Supplementary Figure 1: Light microscopic image of diseased green sea urchins (S. droebachiensis) lesion materials. (100x)

Supplementary Figure 2: Prophage region 1 (28.7 Kb) and region 2 (13.9 Kb) from the genome of V. echinoideorum, predicted by PHASTER tool.