

Supplementary Figures

Clot et al. High-density linkage map constructed from a skim sequenced diploid potato population reveals transmission distortion and QTLs for tuber and pollen production.

Suppl. Fig. 1: Distribution of mean haploid genome coverage in population CE-XW. The red dot indicates the population mean while the vertical dash line indicates the median.