

Implications for Rehabilitation.

- The paper provides all professionals with specific clinical tools that allow for a subjective assessment of patients with musculoskeletal problems of the lower limbs, for correct evaluation and follow-up.
- This review contributes to having shareable and useful data for the creation of guidelines based on scientific evidence at an international level.