

Because the nutritional parameters of produced gas, and the dry matter and organic matter digestibility increased with supplementing the feed ration with slow-release urea compared to urea and comparable