

Supplementary Figure 5. Single cell clustering and major blood cell type identification. a, UMAP representation of single cell clustering. Each dot represents a cell, and cells belonging to the same cluster are colored with the same color. b, Gene expression of the major blood cell type markers across the different clusters. Color scale represents expression magnitude and circle size represents the percentage of cells within a cluster that express a certain marker.