

Supplementary data to Increasing storage temperature of frozen foods: effect on sustainability and food quality

The results from the data analysis and model development are available in the file Supplementary data.csv. This file provides for each model parameters the value, error and p-values for all products and product attributes. For product identification the product names as used in the paper are also used in the data files.