

Supplementary Figure 2. Samples are categorised based on the total double-strand (ds) DNA quantity (measured in ng) for each DNA extraction method. Each dot on the plot corresponds to a specific sample and is labelled with its identification. Among these dots, the three samples highlighted in green that fell at the midpoint were chosen for the whole-genome sequencing (WGS) approach.