

Supplemental Figure 1: Bivariate dispersion visualizations for different reference compounds, using QCs analyzed within nine batches on a large-scale study. The dot in the figure represents the different quality controls. Each convex hull represents an analytical batch and the covered surface represents the bivariate dispersion.

