

Additional File 1 - Interview Guide for Clinics

Study Title: Provincial Comparison of Programs for Patients with Multimorbidity in Interprofessional Collaborative Family Practice Teams in Primary Care

Funder: This study is being funded by the Canadian Institutes of Health Research.

Study Overview and Consent: Review study purpose, informed consent, and interview length (60 minutes)

Interview Questions:

- 1) When did the multimorbidity program start?
- 2) How did the multimorbidity program start?
  - a) What was the rationale for starting the multimorbidity program?
  - b) Who was involved in starting the multimorbidity program?
  - c) Can you describe the composition of the team?
  - d) What were your reasons for including those specific team members?
- 3) What was/is the goal of the multimorbidity program?
  - a) What are the desired outcomes of the multimorbidity program?
- 4) What were the barriers to getting the multimorbidity program started?
  - a) Consider internal and external factors
- 5) What were the facilitators to getting the multimorbidity program started?
  - a) Consider internal and external factors
- 6) What are the barriers to multimorbidity program delivery?
  - a) Consider internal and external factors

- 7) What are the facilitators to multimorbidity program delivery?
  - a) Consider internal and external factors
- 8) What are the perceived benefits of the program for
  - a) Patients?
  - b) Providers?
- 9) How has the multimorbidity program evolved over time? And why?
  - a) Connections to other community services (i.e. referrals)
- 10) Have you evaluated the multimorbidity program in any way?
  - a) How have you used evaluation results?
- 11) If another community wanted to implement this multimorbidity program, what advice would you give them?
  - a) Can you foresee other clinics facing similar barriers to those you did? How would you suggest navigating them?
- 12) Is there anything I haven't asked you about that you think might be important for me to know about the multimorbidity program?