

Supplementary Material : Data Availability Clarification

The qualitative data generated and analyzed during this study contain sensitive cultural information and personal narratives collected through ethnographic methods. In order to protect participant confidentiality and comply with ethical research standards, the data are not publicly available.

All datasets have been anonymized and de-identified prior to analysis. No personally identifiable information is retained in the research records used for publication.

De-identified data supporting the findings of this study can be made available upon reasonable request, subject to ethical considerations and applicable research guidelines.