

Coordinate transformation between the geographic and a Cartesian coordinate system consistent with the global standard geodetic reference system

High fidelity subduction zone generated via coordinate transformation consistent with the global standard geodetic reference system