

Observation of morphological structures of arbuscular mycorrhizal fungi in parenchyma of cleared and trypan blue-stained capillary roots using a 40× objective. The images illustrate the presence of hyphae and root colonization by arbuscular mycorrhizal fungi in plants subjected to mycorrhizal inoculation treatments (A and B), as well as the absence of these structures in the control treatment without inoculation (C). The observations were made at the end of the experiment.

